

Market rises ahead of today's FOMC meeting

US President, Trump, said China and the US are in the “final throes of a deal” and talks are going very well. Meanwhile, Senate finance committee chairman, Orrin Hatch, said a deal with China could be done before year end.

- | quarter by 2.1% QoQ (Cons: 1.9% QoQ; Previous: 1.9% QoQ) underpinned by upward revisions in private inventory investment, non-residential fixed investment, and personal consumption expenditure. Moreover, durable and capital goods orders grew unexpectedly in October, while last week's initial jobless claims declined more than expected. Nonetheless, the MNI Chicago PMI rose less than expected in November (46.3; Cons: 47; Previous: 43.2). | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |

| The publication of industrial profits from Chinese firms confirmed the biggest drop on record in October and also helped to contain trade optimism (-9.9% YoY; Previous: -5.3% YoY). Elsewhere, European data were mixed: November's consumer confidence improved slightly in France, while both Italian consumer and manufacturing confidence fell unexpectedly. | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
| The yield on the 10Y US Treasury jumped (+2bps) on the back of the upward revision of US 3Q19 GDP, although the US 10-2Y yield curve flattened. As a result of the positive data, market expectations of an additional Fed rate cut eased modestly. Meanwhile, European sovereign yields were broadly steady, except for Italy , whose risk premium widened significantly. | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
| The pound outperformed its G10 peers, but fluctuated in a narrow range on mixed political catalysts. The USD appreciated amid strong activity data, while other safe-haven currencies slipped as the market risk sentiment improved. Meanwhile, emerging currencies depreciated (FXJPEMCS index -0.3%) as the USD strengthened with LatAm currencies still leading the losses amid mounting social unrest. The Chilean and Colombian peso hit fresh record lows , while the Brazilian real extended yesterday's drop after the intervention of Brazil's central bank, which sold USD on spot through two separate auctions. | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
| In commodities, oil prices fell after US crude oil inventories rose unexpectedly to 1.6 million barrels, whereas gold prices inched down. | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
| Stock markets crept up in general driven by investors' risk appetite on hopes of a phase-one trade deal. In this context, the S&P 500 index continued to reach new highs. | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
