Daily Flash

European leaders are set to meet tomorrow for a two-day summit. Despite fading expectations that concrete actions will be taken at the summit to resolve the crisis, stock markets in Asia showed moderate gains today, largely on hopes of further stimulus in China. Notably, the Hang Seng advanced by +1.0% on speculation about a reform package to be delivered by China which will likely coincide with the 15-year anniversary of the return of Hong Kong to Chinese sovereignty on July 1st (see below).

China unveils the outline of Hong Kong's anniversary reform package

China's central government today revealed a new batch of policies to strengthen ties between Hong Kong and the mainland. The policy package covers several areas including trade, finance, education, technology, and tourism, as well as increased regional cooperation between Hong Kong and China's neighboring Guangdong province. Moreover, authorities pledged to undertake new initiatives to encourage foreign firms and individuals to conduct RMB trade settlement and investment through Hong Kong, although the relevant details have not yet been released. The details of the new policy package are expected to be announced when President Hu Jintao visits Hong Kong from June 29-July 1.

India: Change at finance ministry spurs hopes of renewed push for reform

Following the nomination of India's previous finance minister for President, India's Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh was announced as the new head of the Finance Ministry on Tuesday, a changing of the guard which has raised expectations of fast-tracking stalled policy reforms. The outgoing finance minister left on a positive note, clearing FDI proposals worth more than Rs 20bn on Monday. In another positive development, New Delhi reported a 26% hike in its electricity tariff, a move that may add to inflation in the near term but over the medium-term will alleviate pressures on the loss-making state electricity board. Other states are expected to follow New Delhi's decision by announcing similar electricity hikes.

Indicator of the Week

China: PMI for June (July 1)

Forecast: 50.1

Consensus: 49.8

Prior: 50.4

Activity indicators for May showed continued weakness in growth momentum, albeit with mixed signs due to much stronger than expected exports. We expect growth momentum to remain somewhat sluggish in June, as the just released flash estimate for the private sector PMI (Markit) registered a further moderation, to 48.1% from 48.4% in the previous month. We expect the official manufacturing PMI (with a greater focus on larger and domestic-oriented firms) to show moderation as well to 50.1, still above the +50 expansion/contraction threshold. Going forward, increasing monetary and fiscal policy stimulus should lead to a pick up in growth momentum in the second half of the year.
