The Prime Minister of Peru resigned after criticism from the press and the opposition. Other changes in the cabinet are possible. In Mexico, the Senate approved the tax changes included in the fiscal reform. Meanwhile, the unemployment rate in Chile remained slightly below expectations. Today unemployment figures from Colombia should be in line with our positive outlook for 3Q13.

Chile - Unemployment rate remained at 5.7% in September

The unemployment rate remained at 5.7% in September, below both our and market expectations (5.8%). Job-creation increased by 0.1% MoM (+2.0% YoY), mainly driven by commerce, construction and education. Meanwhile, the labour force also expanded 0.1% MoM (+1.1% YoY). All in all, and despite monthly job-creation, changes in the composition of employment - from payroll to self-employment - still increases in the jobless rate in the medium term.

Chile - Fiscal balance reached surplus of 0.6% of GDP at 3Q13

Cumulative central government revenues to 3Q13 showed a real decrease of -0.9% YoY (vs. -5.6% YoY cumulative to 2Q13). Meanwhile, real expenditures accumulated growth of 5.8% YoY. The fiscal balance thus reached a surplus of 0.6% of GDP. All in all, it is highly likely that the effective deficit for the full year will be less than 1% of GDP projected by the Treasury, mainly due to better than expected revenue growth.

Mexico - The Senate approved the fiscal reform tax changes

After the Lower House had approved the tax changes included in the fiscal reform, the Senate approved a plan which is expected to increase tax revenues by 1.1% of GDP in 2014, somewhat below the 1.5% of the original proposal. The incorporation of a 5% junk-food tax along with the increase in the oil price and exchange rate set in the budget (from USD80 to USD85 per barrel and USDMXN from 12.6 to 12.9) and the larger gasoline price adjustment (from 6 to 9 cents per month) was not enough to offset the non-approval of the elimination of the VAT exemption for housing and education services. Income tax is to be progressively increased up to a 35% top rate for annual incomes above MXN3mn. The Lower House now has to approve the expenditure side of the fiscal plan (i.e. the full budget) by no later than 15 November. The fiscal reform falls short of expectations and will not be enough to eliminate the dependence of public finances on oil revenues, but is unlikely to be growth-restrictive in the short term (in contrast to the original proposal) and its effect on inflation will be less (we now expect an impact close to 0.6pp vs. our estimate of around 1pp for the original proposal).

Peru - Premier resigned and it could trigger additional changes in the Cabinet

Juan Jiménez left office amid criticism over inappropriate communication with the press and the opposition. According to his statements, he will be replaced by César Villanueva, who is a re-elected local authority figure (Regional President of San Martín) with managerial experience. It also transpired that there could be some other changes in the cabinet. Thus, the Minister for Education, Patricia Salas, might also be removed.

What to watch today

Colombia - Urban unemployment (September, 12:00 hrs NYT)

We expect the urban unemployment rate to stand at 10.4%, 0.3 pp below last year's number although stable on a seasonally-adjusted basis compared to August. Job-creation should maintain its robust pace, in line with our 3Q13 activity outlook.
